

Away for too long

I've been away for too long
Tried to figure out what went wrong
Couldn't see any light in the darkness

I'd been the king of the town
Before they came and stole my crown
And now the stars in the night look so harmless

This is not a love song you can rate
This is all 'bout pain and pride and hate
This is where relationships go wrong
If you cannot tell what's right or wrong

I fell in love and apart
Tried to mend my broken heart
Now I feel deep inside there's a meaning

I'd go the whole way back again
Through the sun and through the rain
If I could learn how to fight my true feelings

This is not a personal estate
This is all 'bout destiny and fate
This is like a singer without a song
You feel so weak when you must be strong

And everytime you ought to wait
You had better run, no need to be late
And everytime you lose your heart
Take another one and press "restart".
